

THE
LAST CAMPAIGN OF
*Marianne
Tambour*
A NOVEL OF WATERLOO

DAVID EBSWORTH

On the bloody fields of Waterloo, a battle-weary canteen mistress of Bonaparte's Imperial Guard battalions must fight to free her daughter from all the perils that war will hurl against them – before this last campaign can kill them both.

“Superb! David Ebsworth has really brought these dramatic events to life. His description of the fighting is particularly vivid and compelling.” – Andrew W. Field, author of Waterloo: The French Perspective and its companion volume, Prelude to Waterloo: Quatre Bras

Praise for David Ebsworth's novel, The Jacobites' Apprentice, critically reviewed by the Historical Novel Society, who deemed it “worthy of a place on every historical fiction bookshelf” and named it as a Finalist in the Society's 2014 Indie Award.

Each of David Ebsworth's novels has been awarded the coveted B.R.A.G. Medallion by the worldwide Book Readers Appreciation Group.

About the Author

David Ebsworth is the pen name of writer, Dave McCall, a former negotiator and Regional Secretary for Britain's Transport & General Workers' Union. He was born in Liverpool (UK) but has lived for the past thirty years in Wrexham, North Wales, with his wife, Ann. Following his retirement, Dave began to write seriously in 2009.

For more information on David Ebsworth and his various works, visit his website at www.davidebsworth.com.

Title	The Last Campaign of Marianne Tambour: A Novel of Waterloo
Author	David Ebsworth
ISBN	978-1-78132-321-2 (paperback) 978-1-78132-322-9 (ebook)
RRP	£9.99 (paperback) £3.99 (ebook) 229 x 152mm

Bookseller and library discounts available

Published by SilverWood Books

Available to order from bookshops, online retailers, and directly from the publisher

