Elly Redding

Key selling points

- Elly Redding won the New Talent Award at the Festival of Romance in 2014.
- A contemporary love story bursting with lustful energy and humour. The perfect novel to curl up with this winter season!
- Author Joanne Walsh describes the book as a “wonderfully warm romance, with lots of emotion and passion, and a generous sprinkling of delicious wit.”

About the book

Could you ever trust again the man who broke your heart? Kate Fenton thought she'd got the answer to that question all neatly sewn up. Ever since she went to Saul Preston's London art gallery, a month before their wedding, and found him with his assistant – who looked as if she was in the middle of a game of strip poker.

Three years later, she's no longer so sure. Saul's back in her life with a new proposition – to accompany him on a trip to Majorca as his interpreter. It's an offer Kate can't refuse, even though she knows she should. Successful and rich, he's just the sort of client her translation company is trying to attract – even if he is her two-timing ex!

Saul's never gone in for second chances. He's never had the time, but he knows exactly what he's doing when he suggests the trip to Kate. As gorgeous and infuriatingly easy to fall for as ever, he's determined to rekindle their past. And he's only got three days to do it...

About the author

Elly Redding was born in London but now lives in Bedfordshire with her husband. She enjoys tap-dancing and watching the waves, although not necessarily at the same time.

Can a leopard really change its spots – or is she just deceiving herself...?
