Discover how Nan's past has affected her life, and what Hugo has to face in this story full of adventure, humour and crazy pets.

About the author

When not writing, I teach at a museum or schools. I love experimental history and archaeology, and get ridiculously excited about poo and bones because they can hold information.

My pets have included a crazy hen (hmm, there's definitely a story to write about her!) and a rescued racing pigeon.

I think writing stories is an art and I'm still learning. This is my motto for life: I try, I try. I can, I can.

Follow Hugo on a journey of discovery
