

A journey of resilience to the newest frontier of inclusion

DIVERTED

Roxanne Hobbs

Key selling points

- A true insight into modern family life from innovative global diversity consultant Roxanne Hobbs.
- An that inspiring book that reshapes our understanding of what it is to live in a more inclusive world.
- A courageous and personal account of Hobbs' experience with autism and neurodiversity.

About the book

Roxanne and her husband were blindsided when their son's schoolteacher suggested that their five-year-old was autistic. In a five-minute meeting, the shift from confident parents of a 'normal' child to parents who had a son with suspected special needs was all too sudden.

As a result of their experiences, Roxanne and her husband have expanded their understanding of resilience and humanity. This has inspired them to implement the change that they want to see in the world. They now believe neurodiversity to be the newest frontier of inclusion.

Diverted is the journey of their struggle, their learning and, ultimately, their strength. It is the story of an ongoing mission for two parents to make sense of their reaction as their preconceptions shift.

About the author

Roxanne is a key influencer in driving the Inclusivity and Diversity agenda in the advertising industry. She is founder of The Hobbs Consultancy. Find out more at www.thehobbsconsultancy.com.

A journey of resilience

Book information

Publication Date	1 March 2018
ISBN	978-1-78132-758-6
Dimensions	203 x 133mm
Extent	138 pages
RRP	£8.99
BIC	VFJB
Rights	Worldwide
Ebooks	.epub and .mobi

Bookseller and library discounts available
Published by SilverWood Books
Available to order from Bertrams

facebook.com/silverwoodbooks

@SilverWoodBooks

@silverwood_books