However, how will Leona and friends cope on one particular wild and stormy evening when the fairy village turns into a nightmare...?

About the author

Pauline Tait is a multi-genre author, living and writing in Perthshire, Scotland. Her writing spans the ages as she writes both fiction novels for adults and children's picture books.

Although the two genres couldn't be more different, Pauline enjoys switching between the two and her approach to writing them differs greatly, with both being a pleasure to write.

Writing has allowed Pauline to reach out and encourage children through school, library, and bookshop visits as well as festival events. Having worked in learning support, Pauline is passionate about our children's futures and welcomes these opportunities to encourage children in their own reading and writing; after all, both are essential to future learning.
